

Microsoft Dynamics AX 2009 Editions

Getting the right solution to meet your business requirements, at the right time, and at the right price can be confusing.

Neustro Consulting Ltd has prepared this document to help you select what you need and when you need it using Business Ready Licensing. With Business Ready Licensing you can choose from two editions—Business Essentials and Advanced Management—as well as from additional components.

Business Ready Licensing Editions

Business Essentials...

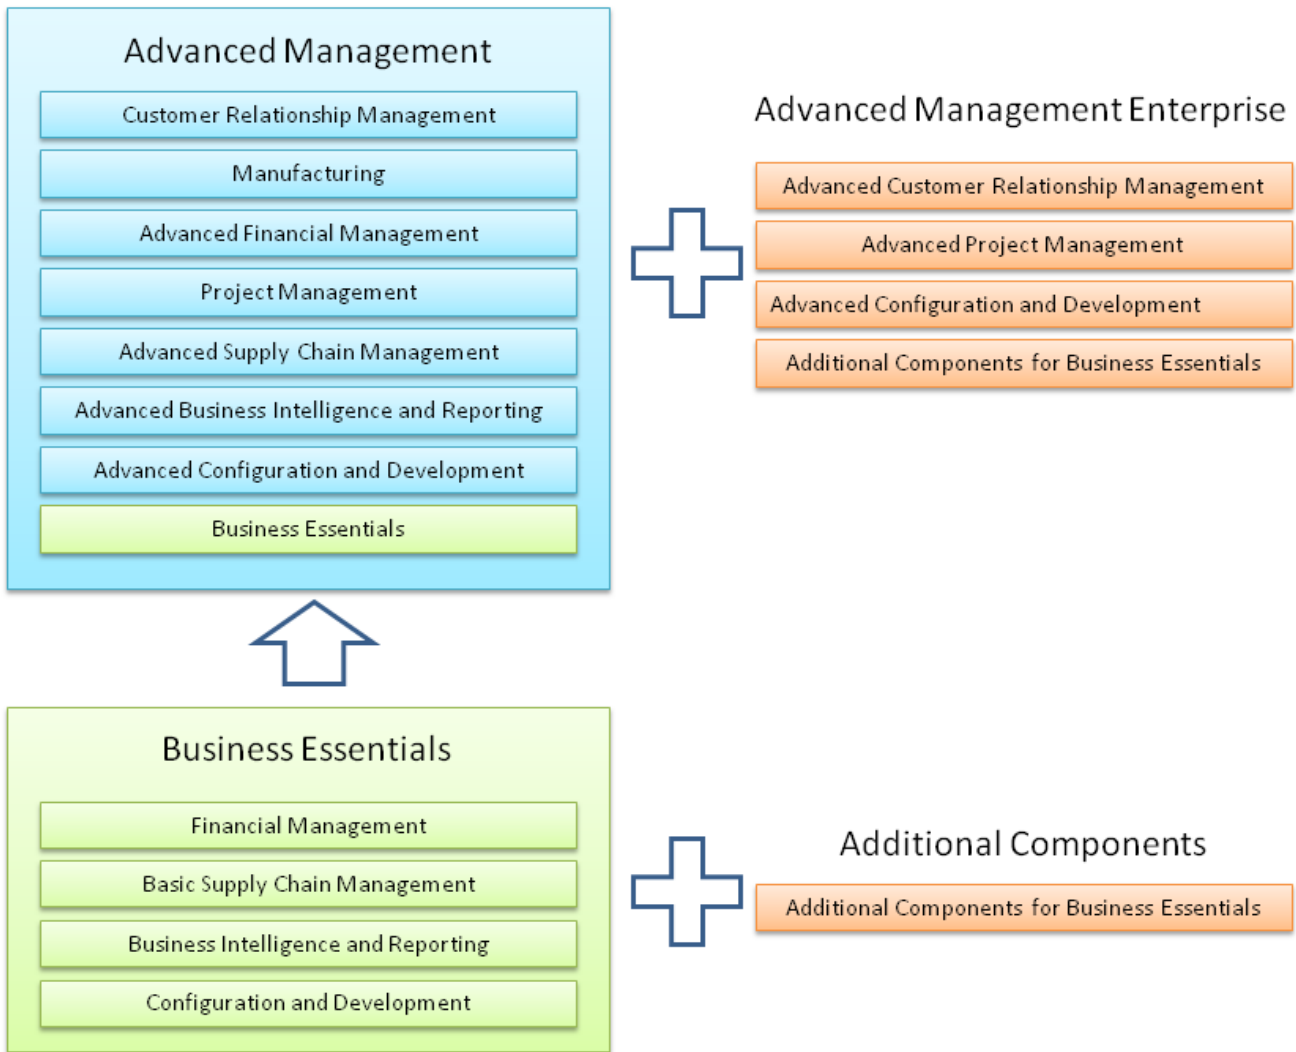

Is for organisations who need core financial management and trade functionality with integrated financial, supply chain, business intelligence, and reporting processes that can scale easily as your business grows.

Advanced Management...

Is for growing organisations that need an adaptable solution with complex, highly functional financial, accounting, business intelligence, and reporting functionality. Advanced Management includes all Business Essentials functionality.

Additional Components...

Is a rich set of additional components that extend to supply chain management, field service, manufacturing, business intelligence and reporting and development capabilities.

If you require assistance in selecting the licenses you require for your Microsoft Dynamics AX2009 solution, Neustro, as a Gold Certified Microsoft Partner, will help you choose the right components for your business, and configure them properly. Neustro, as your Microsoft partner, will also help your people get the ongoing training and support they need to use the tools to their full potential.
